

The Patient's Doctor

Helping patients and doctors to talk to each other !

posted by Dr Aniruddha Malpani, MD @ 6:36 PM

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 07, 2006

World Health Congress Report: Technologies Put Healthcare in the Hands of Patients

World Health Congress Report: Technologies Put Healthcare in the Hands of Patients: "Patients need to take more active control of their healthcare. This message was a recurring theme of presentations at The World Healthcare Innovation and Technology Congress, held from November 1-3 in Washington, D.C. Speaking on the last day of the three-day conference, David Lansky, Ph.D., executive director of the Personal Health Technology Initiative at the Markle Foundation, discuss the growing support for electronic personal health records. In theory these records, which come in many flavors, could make healthcare more efficient and safer."

About Me

I am an IVF specialist who believes in information therapy. I also run the world's largest free patient education library, HELP (www.healthlibrary.com)